1. Introduction and theme

The Cambridge International Law Journal (CILJ) is proud to host its 14th Annual Conference on 28–29 April 2025 at the Faculty of Law of the University of Cambridge in Cambridge, United Kingdom. The theme for this year’s conference is: ‘Navigating a Multipolar World: Challenges to the Post-WWII Status Quo of International Law’. The 80th anniversary of the United Nations Charter offers an opportunity to reflect on the modern international order and its effectiveness in addressing evolving challenges. Specifically, the conference hopes to facilitate discourse around an array of topics, including: continued armed conflict in the Global North, the rise of non-conventional warfare, an escalating climate crisis, and the regulation of new regions of law, such as cyberspace, outer space, the deep sea, and the two poles.

While asking whether the post-1945 legal framework is fit for purpose, we also hope to create a discussion on how international law can evolve to meet these challenges.

This brochure provides an overview of the conference and relevant logistical information. The conference is a two-day event, and tickets can be purchased for in-person or virtual attendance.

2. Conference programme

All the venues, save for the formal dinner at Selwyn College, are located in the Faculty of Law Building of the University of Cambridge: David Williams Building, 10 West Road, Cambridge, CB3 9DZ (<https://maps.app.goo.gl/TDr2oYtFjhm7vMJu5>). There will be conference assistants and clear signposting in the Faculty of Law to help all attendees find the venues on the conference days.

An optional formal dinner in the iconic dining hall of Selwyn College will be held on Monday, 28 April 2025, at 19:00. All conference attendees are welcome to attend. Tickets for the formal hall have to be purchased on the same Google Form as the general ticket sales for the conference. It promises to be an authentic Cantabrigian experience and an excellent opportunity to network with eminent scholars from around the world.

Note that the formal hall will be held at Selwyn College (and not at the Faculty of Law). Selwyn College is located at Grange Road, Cambridge, CB3 9DQ (<https://maps.app.goo.gl/7RFkZCgQwLReLecQ8>), right next to the Faculty of Law. Please indicate any dietary preferences or restrictions clearly on the Google Form. Please send us an e-mail if you have any questions or concerns.

6. Ticket sales

The conference can be attended in person or virtually. Tickets for in-person and virtual attendance can be purchased until 20 April 2025. Tickets for the Selwyn Formal have to be purchased before 15 April 2025. The cost of in-person attendance includes a light lunch and refreshments (tickets for the Selwyn Formal are sold separately).

7. Logistical information

We are aware that many attendees will not be familiar with Cambridge. Accordingly, we provide the following information to assist you in planning your visit. Please note that the details below comprise mere suggestions as a matter of courtesy, and the CILJ does not have a business relationship with any of the entities below. The CILJ is unable to provide individual assistance with regard to travel or accommodation arrangements, and bears no liability in connection to the services mentioned below.

7.1 Faculty of Law of the University of Cambridge

The University of Cambridge is spread out over the City of Cambridge. The conference will be held in the Faculty of Law, which is located in the David Williams Building on the Sidgwick site at 10 West Road, Cambridge, CB3 9DZ (<https://maps.app.goo.gl/FKkTGRaA7ACervuM7>).

The University has a well-detailed map of all the university and college grounds, which might be helpful and is available at: <https://map.cam.ac.uk/>.

There will be various conference assistants and signposting inside the Faculty of Law on the conference days to guide you to the correct venues, as indicated in the programme.

7.2 Travelling to Cambridge from an airport

There are various ways to travel from London airports to Cambridge, including by coach. There are direct coach services from the following airports to Cambridge bus stations:

- London Stansted Airport
- London Heathrow Airport
- London Gatwick Airport
- London City Airport
- Luton Airport

Drummer Street bus station is in Cambridge's town centre (about a 15-minute walk from the Faculty of Law). Parkside bus station is located only a few minutes further away. Taxis can pick you up from any point in Cambridge, including from the train and bus stations, but we advise that you make arrangements in advance. If you wish to book a coach service, we advise you to look at National Express:

<https://www.nationalexpress.com/en>.

Several taxi services local to Cambridge also offer airport pickups, including:

- CamCab Ltd: www.camcab.co.uk
- A1 Cabco Taxis: www.a1cabco.co.uk
- Panther Taxis: www.panthertaxis.co.uk

Taxis are considerably more expensive than a coach or train. Prices are around:

- From Heathrow to Cambridge: £110
- From Gatwick to Cambridge: £130
- From Stansted to Cambridge: £60

It is advisable to book a taxi in advance.

7.3 Cambridge train station

Regular trains run between Cambridge, London King's Cross and London Liverpool Street Station. The most convenient place to book train tickets is on Trainline: <https://www.thetrainline.com/>.

However, be aware that the train station is located outside the city centre (about a 35-minute walk to the Faculty of Law). There is, however, a taxi rank at the train station where you can easily get a cab. The cost to take a cab from the station to the Faculty of Law is usually around £12.

Please note that traffic is extremely heavy in the morning in Cambridge, so, depending on when you arrive to Cambridge, your best option may be to walk to the Faculty of Law to arrive on time.

7.4 Getting around in Cambridge

Cambridge is a small, scenic city and relatively flat. This makes it ideal for walking or cycling. You can rent an e-scooter or e-bike using the Voi app on your mobile phone: <https://www.voi.com/>. These bicycles and scooters are also available from the train station.

You can also use any of the mentioned taxi cab services or simply walk. Please be advised that traffic may particularly worsen around the city centre during peak hours.

7.5 Accommodation in Cambridge

Guests who plan on staying the night in Cambridge can have an authentic Cambridge college experience by booking accommodation in any of the 31 constituent colleges, but please be advised that availability may be limited as the conference is being hosted at the start of term. A useful webpage may be the Accommodation Service of the University of Cambridge which lists various hotels, B&Bs and hostels (<https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/VisitingCambridge/>).

Of course, guests are welcome to book any accommodation, whether private or at another college. However, we advise that you specifically take note of where the accommodation is situated in relation to the Faculty of Law, and plan accordingly.

We look forward to welcoming you to the University of Cambridge in the beautiful City of Cambridge. If you have any questions, require a letter for visa purposes or encounter any difficulties, please do not hesitate to contact the Conference Convenors at conference@cilj.co.uk.
